

LONDON CONFERENCE IN CRITICAL THOUGHT 2023

School of Social Sciences and Professions, London Metropolitan University
June 30th and July 1st, 2023

Call for Stream Proposals – deadline Dec 1st 2023

The Call for Stream Proposals is now open for the 10th annual London Conference in Critical Thought (LCCT), which will be hosted and supported by the School of Social Sciences and Professions at London Metropolitan University on June 30th and July 1st 2023.

The LCCT is an annual interdisciplinary conference that provides a forum for emergent critical scholarship, broadly construed. The event is always free for all to attend and follows a non-hierarchical model that seeks to foster opportunities for intellectual critical exchanges where all are treated equally regardless of affiliation or seniority. There are no plenaries, and the conference is envisaged as a space for those who share intellectual approaches and interests but who may find themselves at the margins of their academic department or discipline.

There is no pre-determined theme for each iteration of the conference. Each year the conference's intellectual content and thematic foci are determined by the streams that are proposed in response to this call and accepted for inclusion. Successful stream proposals form the basis for our subsequent Call for Presentations; therefore, stream proposals should not take the form of pre-established panels. We welcome stream proposals that aim to stimulate a range of cross-disciplinary responses and which approach critical thought in an open, non-prescriptive way. Past programmes and examples of stream outlines can be found on our website: <http://londoncritical.org>.

The proposers of accepted streams will become part of the organising collective for the remainder of the annual cycle, taking principal responsibility for their own stream as well as contributing to the LCCT organising collective. Further guidance, including what it means to be a stream organiser, how streams and papers are selected, examples of successful proposals, and more information on the ethos and organising structure of LCCT can be found on our website: <http://londoncritical.org>.

The deadline for Stream Proposals is Thursday December 1st 2022. Proposals should not exceed 500 words and should be sent to: londoncritical@gmail.com.
